The charms of bird study, however, come from personal observation, for, as Mrs. Miller has said, The bird lover who carries a glass, but never a gun, who observes, but never shoots, sees many queer things not set down in books; freaks and notions and curious fancies on the part of the feathered folk, which reveal an individuality of character as marked in a three-inch warbler as in a six-foot man. Our most diminutive feathered inhabitant is the ruby-throated humming-bird, who is not much more than a pinch of feathers, but whose every feather is a gem in itself. The male alone wears the brilliant gorget which sparkles and flashes in...
