City Lights Books, United States, 2014. Hardback. Book Condition: New. 208 x 147 mm. Language: English . Brand New Book. Van Morrison is one of a handful of truly iconic twentieth century artists. Along with Bob Dylan, he was one of the first contemporary lyricists to infuse a serious poetic sensibility into popular music. A colossal influence on a wide range of fellow musicians, he has been a singular beacon of artistic integrity, soulful conviction and musical excellence. One of the greatest singer/songwriters of all time, Morrison has been following his muse in an uncompromising way since the early Sixties. He has explored soul, jazz, blues, rhythm blues, rock and roll, Celtic folk, pop balladry and more, forging a distinctive amalgam that has Morrison s unvarnished passion at its core. He has referred to his music as Caledonia soul, reflecting his deep immersion in American roots music and Ulster-Scots. This personal selection of what Morrison himself has judged to be his most important and enduring lyrical work will stand as a landmark public statement from an otherwise intensely private artist, an intimate and very intentional view onto what Morrison himself esteems as his creative contribution. The introduction by Eamonn Hughes, of Queen s University, Belfast, gives a career-long overview of the creative influences Morrison has absorbed and channeled through the years, and the forewords by poet David Meltzer and novelist Ian Rankin provide an appreciation of the writer s craft demonstrated in Morrison s evocative, timeless lyrics. A must for any fan, and a solid introduction to this singular, iconic talent. Tupelo Honey has always existed and Van Morrison was merely the vessel and the earthly vehicle for it. -Bob Dylan I know of no music that is more lucid, feelable, hearable, seeable, touchable, no music you can experience more...
